The undefeated Iowa Blackhawks (2-0) travel to Springfield, Missouri tonight to take on the 1-2 Springfield WolfPack at the Jordan Valley Arena at 7:05 p.m.

A victory would improve the Blackhawks to 3-0, and put them in a tie with the Kansas Koyotes for first in the Northern Conference of the APFL.

The WolfPack, members of the APFL since 2007, and have made steady improvement, playing competitively in its first two games including a victory over the Missouri Minutemen, before being thumped by the Blackhawks, 57-13, two weeks ago.

In that contest, played at the Mid-America Center, the Blackhawks offense rolled up 289 yards of offense behind the APFL and IndoorFootballFan.com's Offensive Player of the Week, Chuck Wright, who fired five touchdowns and 204 yards through the air.

The offensive line dominated the Springfield defense, helping the Iowa rushing attack nearly eight yards a carry, and keeping the WolfPack from recording a sack.

The Iowa Defense held a usually potent Springfield running game to just 34 yards on 26 carries, and just 63 yards through the air. Defensive back Scott Yates recorded the team's only interception.
